Dear Tony, Brad, Mark and Kim;

A couple of weeks ago I came to the new office and wondered why Tony had forgotten his jacket in Wendy's office on such a cold day. Imagine my surprise when I found out it wasn't Tony's but in fact was a gift for me. Thanks so much to all of you; it was really a most pleasant surprise. Getting our new office building done was certainly a great Christmas present and the jacket was like icing on the cake.

We continually get complements on our building and only have one more space left to lease! Its appearance and quality are a testament to the fine work you and subcontractors did getting this project successfully completed on a slightly revised budget. Good luck on future projects and we'll always remember our positive experiences with you, both as fine people and a competent contracting firm.

Happy New Year,

Greg and Wendy Fickbohr
